Mastura Abdul Mutalib says the Chartered Institute Management Accountants programme is ideal for students who have basic knowledge in accounting.

CIMA suits your schedule

FOR Mastura Abdul Mutalib, the Chartered Institute Management Accountants (CIMA) programme suits her working schedule.

She said the programme was convenient as the classes were held in the office building where she worked.

She said CIMA's programme was suitable for part-time students and she was a proof as she was once a part-time student.

She said it was an ideal programme for students who had basic knowledge in accounting.

The CIMA course, she said, would help her in understanding the accounting aspects of her job.

Mastura said the skill and knowledge gained from the CIMA programme would equip her with the basic knowledge in business accounting.

As she aspires to set up her own business, she said the competencies she acquired from the CIMA programme would be useful in the future.

She said the skill and knowledge would be an important tool for her in running her own business or pursue a career in accounting.

She works as a human resource executive, thus, CIMA is not related to her present duties. But by having CIMA qualification, she said she would be a better-informed person in the world of accounting.

Mastura has been in the human resource field for the past five years and she specialises in learning and development.

She is a graduate of Universiti Putra Malaysia with a bachelor's degree in human resource development.
