

Satisfy your craving for knowledge

THE opportunity to study for a bachelor's degree is welcomed by those who crave for knowledge and want to pursue tertiary studies.

One such opportunity is offered by Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM) through the Bachelor Programme for Executives at the Faculty of Economics and Management.

The Faculty of Economics and Management and Putra Business School (PBS) at UPM are the first in Malaysia and the sixth in Southeast Asia to receive the accreditation from the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

Other business programmes accredited by AACSB include those offered by Harvard, London Business School, Wharton, University of Warwick and Yale.

Only five per cent of all business programmes in the world enjoy AACSB accreditation. As the Executive Programme Unit is directly under the faculty, it is also governed by the AACSB accreditation.

This programme is unique due to its diverse students' background, experience and age. Candidates need to have at least two years' working experience.

The goal of this programme is to provide an opportunity to Malaysians to climb the career ladder through academic certification.

Since its establishment in 1997, more than 2,000 students have graduated from three fields of study: Business Administration, Accounting and Economics.

The curriculum for the executive students mirrors the curriculum offered to full time students.

This programme uses the trimester system, with three trimesters every year (July, November and March), made up of 14 weeks of lectures, one week of final exams and a two-week break.

All lectures are conducted after working hours on weekdays (6.30pm to 9.30pm) or on the weekends. Tuition fees vary between programmes.

The cost for the programme is RM20,000 for Bachelor of Accounting, and RM17,000 for Bachelor of Business Administration and Bachelor of Economics.

Candidates should not miss this opportunity since it can improve their self-potential and add value to their career progressions.
