Varsity blues: Finding the right fit

WONG JAY YAT

Universiti Malaya medical student

I believe in having a positive attitude and always wanting to learn new things...

When I was deciding on which university to enrol at, I recall looking at different aspects of a university such as the campus, facilities, and the quality of education. However, I believe that attitude and the willingness to learn are the most important factors in determining whether a university is the right fit for you.

I enrolled at Universiti Malaya because of its beautiful campus, excellent medical facilities, and strong academic programs. I also wanted to be part of a diverse student body that would provide me with opportunities to learn and grow as a person.

I believe that attitude and a positive mindset are key factors in determining whether a university is the right fit for you. If you are open to new experiences and willing to learn, you are more likely to enjoy your university experience and make the most of the opportunities available to you.

Developing soft skills

INTI International University

"It's important for students to be open to new experiences and willing to learn in order to make the most of their university experience." - Muhammad Izzat Fitri

Students should be open to new experiences and willing to learn in order to make the most of their university experience. This means being open to new ideas and perspectives, being willing to take on new challenges, and being willing to adapt to new situations.

The development of soft skills is important in helping students to thrive in their personal and professional lives. Soft skills are skills that are not directly related to a specific job or industry, but are nonetheless important for success in any field.

Developing soft skills can help students to be more effective in their studies and in the workplace. It can also help them to be more confident and better able to communicate with others.

Developing soft skills is an ongoing process, and it is important for students to continue to develop these skills throughout their lives. This can be done through a variety of means, including participation in extracurricular activities, taking courses in communication and leadership, and seeking out opportunities to work with others.

"It's important for students to be open to new experiences and willing to learn in order to make the most of their university experience." - Muhammad Izzat Fitri

Developing soft skills is important in helping students to thrive in their personal and professional lives. Soft skills are skills that are not directly related to a specific job or industry, but are nonetheless important for success in any field. This can be done through a variety of means, including participation in extracurricular activities, taking courses in communication and leadership, and seeking out opportunities to work with others.